

LCLD Sustainable Partnership Program Advisors Circle Advisor Biographies

Margaret Chase is Vice President and Deputy General Counsel at Fannie Mae, reporting to the Senior Vice President and Deputy General Counsel. She is responsible for providing, overseeing, and coordinating all legal advice and other legal services for Fannie Mae's Single-Family Credit Portfolio Management Servicing and Making Home Affordable teams.

Chase has held several positions at Fannie Mae, including Associate General Counsel to the Enterprise Risk team, providing counsel on Fannie Mae's non-agency Mortgage-Backed Securities portfolio; Associate General Counsel for Government Initiatives, supporting Fannie Mae's implementation of the Treasury Department's Home Affordable Modification Program and other initiatives under the Making Home Affordable Program; and Associate General Counsel for mortgage securitization issues, focusing on the company's structured products securitization program.

Prior to joining Fannie Mae in 2005, Chase was an Associate in the Structured Finance practice group at Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe LLP.

Chase has a Bachelor of Arts in political science and art history from Trinity College in Hartford, Connecticut, and a Juris Doctorate from American University, Washington College of Law.

Sarah Goldfrank is Fannie Mae's Senior Vice President and Deputy General Counsel - Single-Family. Goldfrank reports to the Executive Vice President, General Counsel, and Corporate Secretary. Goldfrank leads the team responsible for providing legal services related to Single-Family mortgage selling and servicing contracts, loan-level litigation, seller/servicer oversight, remedies against private label securities issuers, and lender counterparty management.

Prior to assuming her current position in October 2015, Goldfrank was a Senior Vice President in Bank of America's Legal Department, where she led several of the bank's most important mortgage-related legal initiatives, including the horizontal foreclosure review mandated by the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC), the joint OCC/Federal Reserve mortgage servicing consent order, and the multistate attorney-general National Mortgage Settlement. Prior to that, she served as counsel for O'Melveny & Myers LLP, where she specialized in representing financial institutions, particularly mortgage originators and servicers, in significant litigation, enforcement, and regulatory matters. During her tenure at both Bank of America and O'Melveny and Myers, Goldfrank had leadership roles in diversity and other talent development efforts. Earlier in her career, Goldfrank worked for Fannie Mae as a senior manager in the company's Office of Diversity.

Goldfrank has a Bachelor of Arts in African-American studies and art history from Smith College and a Juris Doctorate from Georgetown University Law Center.

Jonathan L. Griffith is Fannie Mae's Vice President and Deputy General Counsel. Reporting to the Executive Vice President, General Counsel, and Corporate Secretary, Griffith is responsible for managing Fannie Mae's litigation and related matters.

Prior to taking on his current role in February 2017, Griffith handled a range of litigation, investigations, and regulatory issues. He was also responsible for managing legal services for Single-Family Customer Delivery Teams.

Before joining Fannie Mae in 2001, Griffith worked at O'Melveny & Myers LLP, where he represented companies and individuals in civil and criminal cases.

Griffith has a Bachelor of Arts in history from Haverford College and a Juris Doctorate from New York University School of Law.

Beth M. Kramer is Associate General Counsel – Energy, Environment, Safety & Health for Lockheed Martin Corporation in Bethesda, MD. Kramer oversees the Corporation's asbestos and silica dockets as well as toxic tort litigation and cost recovery claims arising at environmental remediation sites that the corporation's EESH Remediation Department is managing. She also conducts environmental and safety and health due diligence for the corporation's business acquisitions, divestitures, and joint ventures, and provides environmental legal support to facilitate the corporation's real property acquisitions and dispositions. She serves as the legal representative on the corporation's EESH Leadership Council.

Kramer graduated from the University of Pennsylvania and the George Washington University Law School. She started her legal career in 1995 as an associate with the law firm of Michaels, Wishner & Bonner, P.C. in Washington, D.C., and was later a partner in the Washington, D.C. office of Crowell & Moring LLP. While in private practice, Kramer litigated environmental and toxic torts, insurance coverage, and a variety of commercial and government contract cases.

Kramer is a member of the Maryland and District of Columbia Bars. She currently chairs the ABA Tort Trial & Insurance Practice Section's Corporate Counsel Committee.

Frank Lamir is Vice President and General Counsel, Lockheed Martin International and Government Contracts. In this position, he is responsible for providing and overseeing legal advice in support of the Corporation's international business, U.S. Government contracts, international trade compliance, anticorruption, and privacy matters. Lamir previously served as Vice President and Associate General Counsel, Litigation and Compliance, from September 2013 until his current appointment in July 2016.

Prior to his assignment to the Corporate Legal staff, Lamir served as the General Counsel for a number of lines of business within Lockheed Martin Corporation's former Mission Systems and Training business area, including Undersea Systems, New Ventures, and Integrated Defense Technologies. He also served as the General Counsel, Chief Compliance Officer, Director of Contracts, and ethics representative for Lockheed Martin's wholly-owned subsidiary, Applied NanoStructured Solutions, LLC. He joined Lockheed Martin in October 2007.

Prior to joining Lockheed Martin, Lamir served as a Judge Advocate in the United States Air Force Judge Advocate General's Corps, retiring in August 2005 at the rank of colonel. He served in a variety of positions at field, major command, and headquarters levels, including assignments as staff judge advocate, program counsel for a covert major weapon system, and trial attorney. As chief of the Air Force's Commercial Litigation Division, Air Force Legal Services Agency, Washington, D.C., his office was responsible for representing the Air Force as agency counsel for Federal court litigation involving intellectual property, bankruptcy, and contract disputes, and for procurement bid protests before the Government Accountability Office.

Subsequent to his retirement from active duty military service, he was appointed as an Associate General Counsel, Department of Defense Office of General Counsel, to provide legal support to the Department of Defense Human Resources Activity.

Lamir received his Bachelor of Science degree from Tulane University, and his Juris Doctorate from New England School of Law. He earned a Master of Laws degree in government procurement from George Washington University and a Master of Science degree from the Industrial College of the Armed Services. He is admitted to practice before the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, the United States Supreme Court, the United States Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces, and the United States Court of Federal Claims.

Danielle McCoy is Fannie Mae's Vice President and Fair Lending Officer. She reports to the Executive Vice President, General Counsel, and Corporate Secretary, and leads Fannie Mae's fair lending program. McCoy is responsible for assessing and monitoring fair lending risk on an enterprise-wide level. She facilitates the company's compliance with fair lending laws and regulations and promotes fair and responsible lending throughout various aspects of Fannie Mae's business practices, including its underwriting standards and pricing policies.

Before assuming her current position in October 2015, McCoy was Fannie Mae's Managing Director, Deputy General Counsel, and Assistant Corporate Secretary. She provided legal advice to senior management and the Fannie Mae Board of Directors on corporate governance - including requirements of the Federal Housing Finance Agency and the Securities and Exchange Commission - and managed a team supporting corporate secretary and governance operations. Additionally, McCoy coordinated annual shareholder meetings, managed shareholder proposals, and supported shareholder outreach on governance matters prior to Fannie Mae's conservatorship. She joined Fannie Mae in 2006 as Associate General Counsel - Corporate Governance.

Previously, McCoy provided securities, transactional, and corporate governance counsel as an Associate at Fried, Frank, Harris, Shriver & Jacobson LLP.

McCoy has a Bachelor of Arts in economics from the University of Virginia and a Juris Doctorate from the New York University School of Law.

Stephen H. McElhennon is Fannie Mae’s Vice President and Deputy General Counsel. He reports to the Executive Vice President, General Counsel, and Corporate Secretary. McElhennon is responsible for a wide range of legal matters—including SEC disclosure, capital markets, securitization, tax and benefits, employment law, and the day-to-day operations of the legal department.

Previously, McElhennon was an Associate General Counsel at Fannie Mae, where he oversaw all corporate debt and equity securities issuances. He provided daily counsel and guidance to the Capital Markets organization, addressing both issuances of debt securities and securities investments.

Prior to joining Fannie Mae in 2000, McElhennon was an Associate with Brown & Wood LLP (now Sidley Austin LLP) in New York, where he worked as a Corporate and Securities Associate, specializing in debt, equity, and synthetic product transactions.

McElhennon has a Bachelor of Arts in public administration and philosophy from Fordham University and a Juris Doctorate from Fordham University School of Law.

Leslie Shanklin acts as lead global IP, privacy, and data security counsel for Scripps Networks Interactive (“SNI”), a global media company with brands including Food Network, Cooking Channel, HGTV, DIY Network, Travel Channel, Fine Living, Great American Country, TVN and Asian Food Channel. Scripps Networks brands are distributed in 29 languages in more than 175 countries around the globe. In her IP role as Vice President, Business and Legal Affairs, Shanklin leads a team managing SNI’s global IP portfolio, including trademarks, copyrights and patents and enforcing and defending SNI’s IP assets worldwide. In her role as lead privacy and data security counsel, Shanklin manages SNI’s global data protection compliance program with focus on SNI’s bases of operation in the US, Europe, Asia and Latin America. Shanklin works closely with SNI’s cybersecurity team and advises the business globally on management of risk and legal compliance relating to collection, use, storage and transfer of data.

Prior to joining SNI, Shanklin was a partner at Holland & Knight LLP. She managed the trademark and copyright counseling and litigation practice group in the Washington, D.C. office of the firm, handling a portfolio of clients from a variety of industries, including media, publishing, entertainment, telecommunications and consumer products. As an associate, Shanklin worked in the firm’s media law group involved in counseling and litigation on a variety of media law issues, including 1st Amendment, defamation, prior restraint, rights of privacy and publicity, newsgathering torts, marketing and promotions law and IP issues.

Shanklin has worked with the U.S. Department of Commerce’s Office of Chief Counsel for International Commerce and Office of Intellectual Property Rights, as well as personnel from the USPTO, U.S. Copyright Office, U.S. State Department, and U.S. Small Business Administration, to develop the following intellectual property law courses: International Trade and Investment Law Course on Intellectual Property Rights, and Understanding Intellectual Property Rights: IPR for U.S. Business.

Shanklin earned her J.D. from the George Washington University National Law Center in 1992 and a B.A. in English from the University of Virginia, B.A. in 1989. She graduated from the London Business School Emerging Leaders Programme in 2010. Shanklin is admitted to practice in Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Urvi Doshi Sood is Vice President of Tax Planning & Senior Tax Counsel, Tax Department for Lockheed Martin Corporation. In this capacity, she is responsible for leading the corporation's tax aspects of domestic mergers, acquisitions, dispositions, joint ventures, restructurings, and financings; assessment of uncertain tax positions; tax controversies; tax aspects of compensation and benefits; and closely coordinating with Washington Operations Government & Regulatory Affairs on tax legislative and regulatory matters. She is also responsible for all state income tax planning, audits, and allocations; accounting for state income taxes and associated government receivables; tax systems; and tax talent development and training. Sood's team includes 4 other tax attorneys and 9 tax accountants who assist on these matters.

Previously, Sood was Director of Domestic Tax Planning & Senior Tax Counsel from February 2011 through August 2016. Prior to that, she was Tax Counsel for Lockheed Martin Corporation from February 2008 through January 2011. She also previously served as a Senior Tax Attorney from June 2006 through January 2008.

Prior to joining Lockheed Martin, Sood served as a tax associate at Fried, Frank, Harris, Shriver & Jacobson in Washington, D.C., and New York, New York. She focused on the tax aspects of private equity fund formation and investments, domestic and international acquisitions, and public offerings of debt and equity.

Prior to law school, Sood worked as a financial analyst at the investment banking firm of Donaldson, Lufkin & Jenrette (now Credit Suisse) in New York, New York.

In addition to earning her J.D. from New York University's School of Law, Sood graduated summa cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa from the Honors College at the University of Michigan with dual B.A. degrees in economics and political science.

Sood is admitted to practice law in the District of Columbia and New York. She is a member of the American Bar Association, Financial Executives International, and Tax Executives International.

Suzanne Underwald serves as the Senior Vice President of Business and Legal Affairs for Scripps Networks Interactive’s Content Distribution and Marketing division. In her hybrid business/legal position, she plays a key role in overseeing and negotiating all distribution agreements for Scripps’ portfolio of lifestyle brands. Underwald leads the teams responsible for the account relationships with Comcast Cable, Cox Communications and new media distribution partnerships, including the company’s relationships with Amazon, Facebook, Google, Apple, Snapchat, and Hulu. She also oversees all the attorneys responsible for distribution matters.

Prior to joining Scripps, she spent 17 years with Dow Lohnes, PLLC in Washington, D.C., where she was a partner in the firm’s Media and Information Technologies practice group. While there, she represented major entertainment and media companies on intellectual property and licensing and distribution matters, with a focus on cable affiliation agreements, digital media distribution contracts, and technology licenses.